

Adult RE 2009

Small group ministry continued with a third group meeting in the spring. The original two groups continue to meet. We will be looking at revamping small group with and putting a renewed push for it in the fall of 2010.

Amy Hayden offered a voluntary simplicity class in the spring.

A parenting support group was started in the fall.

Credo continued as an open discussion group for most of the year. Andy and the committee to help us become a welcoming congregation did a six week presentation on examining our views about homosexuality during credo for six weeks in the fall. The good turnout has led us to consider offering more focused discussions and/or classes during this time.

The committee also recognizes the need to provide child care for the things we offer so that the growing number of families with young children can more easily participate. Although we would like to offer this for free, the lack of volunteers to provide it and the size of our budget may dictate that we charge a small fee. We will play it by ear as classes arise.
